

AVOID THE SUMMER SLIDE

Incoming 3rd-5th Graders

Reading

Research has shown that students who read every day during the summer will have less of an achievement gap and more success when school starts in the fall.

This summer, choose books that excite you and that are at your level. Choose books that are not too easy or too hard. See the list on the next page for some recommendations by the American Library Association. These are just recommendations. Students should pick books that interest them, even if they are not on the provided list.

Read at least one book and keep track of your reading in a journal, google doc, or printable reading log. A good example can be found at:

<https://www.k12reader.com/reading-logs/RL-Summer-Picnic.pdf>

Students who turn in a completed reading log by September 14th will be entered into a drawing for a Barnes & Noble Gift Card.

Email Mr. Kloetzer (rkloetzer@olmcmd.org) with any questions.
